

Researching before a Job Interview

So you've got a job interview coming up - well done! Before you go on your interview, it's important to do some research about the company or business you're visiting. Use the questions below to help guide your research.

Places to look for information:

- Their company website
- Their Facebook page or other social media sites
- If they are a big company, they might have a Wikipedia page
- Any recent news articles about the company

- What do they do?

- What do they make?

- What do they sell?

- Are they a huge international corporation (e.g., McDonalds), or a smaller local kiwi business?

- What is their mission statement/their values etc?

- What are they known for?
